Adult Home and Community Support

Glebe House provides a range of services to help adults with learning disabilities remain independent within their community.

We have the experience and skills to support people with learning disabilities, including those with a combined physical and learning disability as well as those with autism.

Our caring staff are person-centred and provide a flexible service.

We support service users in a range of areas related to improved independence such as:

- Helping to shop
- Managing letters and bills
- Helping people if they move homes
- Supporting people through emergencies
- Keeping healthy and safe
- Supporting people at social events and activities within their local community

All of our staff are highly skilled and well trained.

All of our service users have individual support plans that address their needs and identify what they expect from the service.

All service users have access to other services and facilities within Glebe House, such as social clubs and trips so there are plenty of opportunities to make new friends.

We support people to feel part of their local community.
